Scope and Content

The materials in Case Number 2023-0667-S are a systematically processed body of documents responsive to the topic. Researchers should consult the archivist about related materials.

Case Number 2023-0667-S contains one folder of materials created by Jane Leonard related to President Bush’s meeting with Cardinal John O’Connor of New York. The Office of Public Liaison coordinated activities, events, and relations between various public interest groups and constituencies and the Bush administration. Leonard served as Associate Director from June 1991 through April 1992. Her areas of expertise included Education and Literacy.

The Staff and Office Files contain letters, memos, document, lists, handwritten notes, diagrams, statements, and forms.

Correspondence in this folder include a letter from Cardinal O’Connor to President Bush suggesting a meeting with key Lebanese Americans and a second one to an administration official suggesting names of meeting participants. There are also memos supplying background information on, and details about, the meeting. A document contains points for President Bush to make during the meeting. There are lists of meeting participants and possible dates, handwritten notes related to various aspects of the meeting, and diagrams reflecting seating charts of meeting participants. Several White House statements detailing President Bush's meeting with Cardinal O’Connor were delivered as press releases. Forms present in this folder contain a White House scheduling recommendation, conference room request, and multiple requests for Photo/Mailing.

The following is the name of the folder processed in response to Case Number 2023-0667-S.
